DRY NIGHT, sleep tight

“Mummy, I’m all wet”. How many parents have been woken up in the middle of the night by their children because they’re uncomfortable having wet their beds?

Bed-wetting (nocturnal enuresis) is a common condition affecting children under the age of five. It occurs because the amount of urine produced is greater than the bladder can hold, and, despite this, the child does not wake up with obvious consequences.

This condition can also affect older children and is the unintentional passing of urine as, by this age, bladder control should be established (www.bedwetting.co.uk).

Even though it is not physically harmful its causes may be linked to psychosocial issues such as bullying or other stressful situations. Inevitably children find it embarrassing and difficult to deal with.

A must-have product for every parent

The new Aquasolari absorbent and washable bed pad is the perfect way to deal with wet beds for toddlers, children, and even mums-to-be! It features unique ‘tuck-ins’ which wrap around the side of the bed and tuck in under or above the sheet, offering superb mattress protection.

The product is made using synthetic materials which ensure that the pad remains consistently soft to the skin. Boasting an absorbent layer that can soak up up to two litres of fluid, it has a soft ‘upper side’ and a special vinyl back, ensuring both sheet and child stay dry. Furthermore, it can be machine washed at any temperature up to 92°C, and dried on a line or in a tumble drier. Thermal sterilisation /disinfection takes place at a minimum temperature of 65°C for 10 minutes or 71°C for 3 minutes. Anything lower than 65°C does not do the job.*

The Aquasolari pad was tested 200 times by INTERTEK at 92°C.

Winner of 4 awards from Midwife, Mother, Baby and Toddler testing organisations. It is also now being used in a children’s hospital.

*Note: All institutional laundry such as Hospitals, Hotels, Military, Prisons and Care Homes is washed at 65oc+

There are many excellent sources of information on bed-wetting, its causes and how to deal with it but probably the most important, albeit obvious, point is that every episode should be dealt with calmly and as quickly as possible so that the child can be settled back to sleep. The vast majority of children however, stop bed-wetting without treatment. According to the NHS medical advice website, only 1% of children will continue to wet the bed into adulthood.
